CITES NEED FOR DRIVER EDUCATION

Driver training and other phases of safety education "cannot be a 9 to 5 o'clock basis if we are to do the job that must be done," Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council and former two-term governor of Arizona, told approximately 400 gathered Friday night in the Gettysburg College dining hall for the 15th annual banquet held in connection with the conference of the Pennsylvania Association for Safety Education being held here Thursday, Friday and today.

"No group receives more blame for causing trouble on the highways than the teen-ager—yet properly trained the teen-ager driver is the best on the road. If he is not the best, whose fault is it?" Governor Pyle asked.

"There is no more logical approach to driver improvement than student training, yet there is opposition. Nothing is more essential to America than transportation. But the use of the highways is outrunning our efforts to teach and train in safety," he said. "Mileage driven now is 800 billion; by 1970, six years from now, it is estimated motorists in the U. S. will drive one trillion, 200 billion miles.

DEATH RATE UP

"During the 24 of the last 26 months there has been an increase in the mileage death rate. Our work is successful. We know that. We have repeatedly watched the fatality rate go down where there is driver training, and other phases of the safety program. But unfortunately the states and cities have not as yet backed the program 100 per cent. And as a result the rate increases.

"Pennsylvania will issue 350,000 new learners permits during the coming year. Of 350,000 new drivers joining the great numbers already on the highways, how many will be really qualified? This is a tremendous problem and it is our problem.

"The single season for most of our shortcomings is that the seriousness of the need is not yet realized on the scale needed. Only half the states have some type of financial aid for driver education, although 16 others are now considering some type of support. HALF ARE TRAINED

"Only about half the eligible students in the U.S. public schools are receiving some driver instruction. And the situation is far worse in the nonpublic schools, where the great majority of students receive no driver training.

"Our investment in transportation is immense. Our annual expenditure exceeds $5 billion dollars. Of that amount $2 billion is

At Least 10 Persons Were Injured, 28 Arrested In Race Violence In Chester

By KENNETH RAPPAPORT
CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrations flared into violence in this southeastern Pennsylvania city Friday night, resulting in injury to at least 10 persons and the arrest of at least 28.

The violence erupted when police attempted to disperse demonstrators blocking a street corner in the Negro section of the city.

Fights broke out when some 150 helmeted state and city policemen, and deputized municipal workers, swinging nightsticks, moved in to make arrests and herded the demonstrators into buses to be taken to the police station.

BOMBARD POLICE

Rocks, bricks and bottles were hurled at policemen, windows were smashed in police cars and persons at the scene said they heard a shot fired.

A flurry of fighting erupted inside the bus and a second wave of violence flared, as bystanders joined the melee and more police arrived.

Minutes later, some 100 policemen rushed from buses to a nearby tavern where more rioting and rock throwing was met with force by police, carrying riot sticks.

Police quelled the outbreaks, but described the situation as tense as they patrolled the streets of Chester and followed up reports of vandalism and a rash of false fire alarms.

6 POLICE INJURED

Among the injured were six policemen and a Negro 21-year-old expectant mother.

Police reported vandals also smashed windows in the home and automobile of Chester Police Capt. Theodore Laws, a Negro.

Among those arrested was a white minister, the Rev. Clayton Hewett, 38, rector of Atonement Episcopal Church, Mor-

SAYS DRIVER TRAINING IN SCHOOL HELPS CUT ACCIDENTS

A pioneer traffic safety educator refuted here today skeptics of high school driver education by claiming that it offers the greatest contribution to the solution of the "driver part" of the nation's traffic problem.

The speaker was Amos E. Neyhart, director of the Institute of Public Safety at the Pennsylvania State University and consultant on driver education for the American Automobile Association. He was the speaker at an "early bird" breakfast this morning at 7 o'clock at the Hotel Gettysburg.

The breakfast opened the final day of the Pennsylvania Association for Safety Education's 15th annual conference which opened Thursday at Gettysburg High School.

"FACT, NOT FANTASY"

"It is a fact and not just fantasy," Neyhart said this morning "that driver education in the schools helps reduce the accident rate for persons who receive that training."

He pointed out that 40 research studies show that students who received top-quality instruction in a high school driver education course have fewer violations and accidents than similar groups that have not had such instruction.

Citing the need for driver education, Mr. Neyhart, who pioneered driver education in 1933 at State College, Pa., High School, noted that when students have completed a top-quality driver education course, taught by an accredited teacher and meeting State department of education standards, they are "more considerate, more courteous, and better motoring citizens than those who have not received such instruction."

SOME CONTROVERSY

The traffic safety specialist stressed that driver education should be offered as a regular part of the high school curriculum including both classroom and practice driving instructions as a "must."

He also praised the driver education teachers in the high schools who, he said, must complete special courses and meet high certification requirements before being allowed to teach. Mr. Neyhart discounted the cost

CONTESTS IN BOTH PARTIES FOR PRIMARY NEXT TUESDAY

A total of 22,270 Adams Countians will have an opportunity Tuesday to express their choice of candidates for President of the United States — but the same ballot that provides the opportunity also notes that no one need pay any attention to their votes.

The county's 12,123 Republicans and 10,147 Democrats will write in their favorites for President, but all of the delegates to the national conventions — who will be the ones who select the Presidential nominees — state under their names on the ballots: "Does not promise to support popular choice of party in the 19th District for President."

Republicans, in addition to giving some guidance to their delegates by their Presidential preference vote, will be naming two candidates as delegates to the national convention. Adams Countians will be providing less than one-third of the votes which they join York and Cumberland Counties in choosing delegates. George J. Campbell Jr., York R. 8, and Lawrence B. Sheppard, Hanover, are the party-committee endorsed candidates for the two delegate posts. John H. Norris, the third candidate, is an avowed Goldwater supporter. The Republicans will also name two alternate delegates to the Republican convention. They are Kurvin W. Lauer, Camp Hill, and Robert E. Flynn, New Cumberland, the only ones on the ballot and both organization endorsed.

3 GOP CONTESTS

The Democrats will choose among five for their four delegates to the national convention. Again Adams voters will join York and Cumberland Democrats in making the choice. The candidates include Fred G. Klunk, New Oxford; Jack B. Barnhart and Paul L. A. Niesley of York; H. C. Erickson, Camp Hill, and B. A. Wagner, York R. 3.

The Democrats will elect two alternate delegates to the national convention. They have two candidates on the ballot, Ira K. Gleim of Mt. Holly Springs and Arthur D. Weeks of York.

Republicans have three contests for the state and congressional candidate posts they will be filling. Hugh Scott, the incumbent, is opposed by W. Henry MacFarland, also of Philadelphia, for the U.S. senatorial nomination. George A. Goodling, Loganville, the incumbent, is opposed by Sebastian R. Hafer of Camp Hill and Gettysburg, for the congressional nomination. Former Assemblyman Francis Worley of York Springs R. D., is opposing incumbent Harry D. Ridinger Sr., Gettysburg, for the nomination for representative in the General Assembly.

BIG DEMOCRATIC BATTLE

Unopposed on the ballot are Robert E. Woodside, Millersburg, and Joseph C. Bruno, Philadelphia, for the two nominations for judge of Superior Court; W. Stuart Helm, Kittanning, for auditor general; Robert D. Fleming, Pittsburgh, for state treasurer; D. Elmer Hawbaker, Mercersburg, for state senator, and Fred G. Pfeffer, Gettysburg, the incumbent, for Republican state committeeman.

The Democrats have a battle royal going for the top spots on their ballot while peace reigns in the lower echelons. Genevieve Blatt, Pittsburgh; Michael A. Musmanno, McKees Rocks, and David B. Roberts, of Pittsburgh, are battling for the U.S. Senator nomination.

There are five candidates for the two nominations for judge of the Superior Court: Robert Lee Jacobs, Carlisle; Robert E. Woodside, Millersburg; Joseph C. Bruno, Philadelphia; Paul A. Simmons, Monongahela, and J. Sidney Hoffman, Philadelphia. Two are seeking the auditor general nomination: Samuel Gunnert Neff, Beaver Falls, and Grace M. Sloan, Clarion.

For the rest of the offices only one candidate is on the ballot for each nomination: Thomas Z. Minehart, Fort Washington, for state treasurer; N. Neiman Crayley Jr., York, for congressman; Gilbert J. Lupp, Gettysburg, for state senator; Fred G. Klunk, New Oxford, for assemblyman, and R. L. Pittenturf, York Springs, for Democratic state committee.

MAURY WILLS' JACKET IRKS BRAVES PILOT

By DAVE O'HARA Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Bobby Bragan of the Milwaukee Braves has raised an interesting question: When is a major league baseball player in uniform?

Bragan lodged a formal game protest on the grounds that Los Angeles shortstop Maury Wills was out of uniform for wearing a windbreaker under his uniform shirt Friday night during the Braves' 6-3 victory over the Dodgers.

The Braves' triumph wiped out the protest announced by plate umpire Al Forman with the score tied 2-2 in the top of the third.

However, it stirred up plenty of comment about the section of Rule 1.11 which reads: "No player whose uniform does not conform to that of his teammates shall be allowed to participate in a game."

Bragan noticed the sleeves of the windbreaker bulging from under the short sleeves of Wills' shirt in the first inning—when the temperature was 37 degrees. The umpires had a lengthy discussion with Wills and Los Angeles Manager Walt Alton and decided to let the Dodger shortstop wear the jacket after he pushed up the sleeves.

"I finally decided to play the game under protest," Bragan explained later. "I admit it was a technicality, but legally you can't wear something that sticks out. If he wore the windbreaker so it didn't bulge, it might have been okay. As it was, I didn't want to take a chance on him getting hit by a pitch on the jacket's sleeve and then being awarded the base."

Wills said the umpires "just told me to tuck the jacket sleeves under my shirt."

"I've worn the jacket before during cold weather."

IBM COMPUTER IS SUCCESSFUL MATCH-MAKER

By DON MEIKLE
STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Oswald, the romantic computer, did O.K. on his first venture as a matchmaker at the University of Connecticut.

He was beset by difficulties—such as the girls who said they didn't want "sexually aggressive" partners and boys who did not want girls who were likely to "get serious."

But, with the help of a few humans, everything went smoothly at the dance Friday night despite a surplus of a score of males.

ARRANGED DANCE CARD

It was all part of an experiment by the psychology department. Questionnaires with 60 questions were offered to the student body. They were filled out by some 550 students.

Oswald—an IBM 7040 computer—then essayed to provide each student with three suitable partners for the dance.

Came the big night, the chosen students congregated in the Student Union ballroom and were quickly tagged and arranged by number.

"Hey, look at 427 over there! What a doll!" was a typical comment.

COUPLES PAIR OFF

Jack Carlson, a senior majoring in English, was paired with 333—a brunette graduate student also studying English literature—and 167 and 13, two blonde sophomores.

"If I could remember 333's name..." Carlson mused afterward. "She's older than I am—but so what!"

There were some who were hard to match in terms of the qualifications they had listed for their prospective partners. They drew zeroes for one of their three partners and had to go to a "problem desk" staffed by humans to fill out their cards, which were IBM cards punched by Oswald.

RATED HIGH

Oswald generally was successful despite requests from most males for partners better looking than they rated themselves. He was helped considerably by the ladies, 85 per cent of whom described themselves as above average in appearance.

The gallant electronic host of the evening acknowledged that he was not infallible. He signed each dance card: "Good luck—Oswald."

"CALL ON GOD"

Call on God when you are troubled... He will listen to each prayer... putting in the place of sorrow... faith to help you conquer care... God can calm the stormy waters... when your heart is all at sea... He will give the strength you're needing... to face what might come to be... God wants us to seek His guidance... by so doing faith is shown... God will always aid the faithful... they will never walk alone... with the Master you'll be equal... to all torment and all strife... if you travel close beside Him... you will find a happy life... so whenever you are weary... and the roads are rough to plod... peace will come to you I'm certain... that is, if you call on God.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SCHOOL PRAYERS: Two congressmen have voiced concern that a campaign is under way to stampede Congress into amending the U.S. Constitution to permit prayers in public schools.

Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., becoming the first witness to oppose such an amendment, told the House Judiciary Committee Friday the move was being whipped along by "right-wing extremists" and was an attack on the Supreme Court.

Sisk, who said he was a member of a fundamentalist Protestant sect, declared the kind of amendments being proposed would amount to "religion by majority rule."

Sisk's testimony was "like a bit of cool air in the heart of summer," declared committee chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who has listened to more than 25 members of Congress urge an amendment to undo a Supreme Court decision and permit prayers in public schools.

"An attempt is being made to stampede Congress," Celler said. "I'm glad to see people finally are realizing that their apathy and indifference is dangerous and are being vitalized to express their views."

MARS LIFE: If there is any life on Mars at all, says astronomer G. P. Kuiper, it is probably a microscopically thin layer of vegetation.

But the red planet may not always have been so barren, theorizes the University of Arizona space scientist.

"I think that Mars has seen better days," he said Friday at a news conference after an American Geophysical Union symposium.

In ages past, he said, Mars may have had atmospheric and other conditions that could have supported more-advanced forms of plant life.

PEACE CONFERENCE: Associate Justice Roberto Regala of the Philippines Supreme Court called today for a peace conference under the auspices of the United Nations to revise the rules of international law to meet world conditions.

Regala made the proposal at the 58th annual meeting of the American Society of International Law and said that the peace conference should be similar to the Hague conferences of 1899 and 1907.

HOPKINS HAS NEW CHANCE FOR OLYMPICS

By RON SPEER

Associated Press Sports Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A mighty leap in an event he doesn't like has doubled Gayle Hopkins' chances for a spot on the U.S. Olympic track team this fall.

The lean Arizona senior had been pinning his hopes for a trip to Japan on the hop-step-and-jump, where he ranks as one of the nation's finest.

Now he also rates as one of the country's leading broad jumpers, after wiping out the oldest mark on the Drake Relay books and setting the only record in the meet Friday.

Hopkins, who says he has never considered himself a good broad jumper, leaped 26-2 to better by a quarter-inch the 1935 Drake mark set by the great Jesse Owens.

TRIES NEW MARK

He takes a crack today at the hop-step-jump record, where his best leap of 50-5/4 is six inches over the Drake standard.

Also on tap today was the mile run featuring Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, who ran a 3:56.4 indoors this winter.

Another headliner was the University mile relay, with Arizona State and Rice expected to battle. Rice was beaten out of the record Friday when it ran a 3:10.2 in a qualifying heat but was clocked by only one timer and denied the mark.

Arizona State's mile team features Henry Carr, who failed Friday to threaten the world 220-yard mark when he won a special furling in 21 seconds flat by beating Omaha's Roger Sayers.

LODGED IN JAIL

Henry F. Yingling, 47, 234 S. Washington St., was placed in the county jail at 11:40 Thursday night charged by borough police before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder with disorderly conduct and malicious mischief. According to the borough police report he was seen removing trees from the box in front of the Dutch Craft on S. Washington St.

4TH IN M-A RUN

The Gettysburg College mile relay squad placed fourth in the Middle Atlantic Conference relay Friday at the Penn Relays, Philadelphia. St. Joseph's won the race in 3:22.2.

It portrays the problems faced by the patient and his family when he is discharged from a mental hospital. For the first time the association will hold a dinner meeting at Trinity Reformed Church May 6 at 6:30 p.m. Reservations and checks for $1.50 each are to be mailed to Mrs. Virginia Parry by April 30. of instruction, claiming that the cost which ranges from $40 to $60 per pupil is a small amount when considering the future driving records of these properly prepared young drivers.

Financing the program, he said, has always been a source of controversy among educators, who have always felt that the money should come from the regular school funds. Many educators, he continued, see grave dangers in ear-marking funds for special school activities because it could result in a lopsided, hodge-podge of offerings in our schools.

In spite of this feeling on the part of some educators, Mr. Neyhart pointed out, 24 states now provide direct financial assistance to school districts offering complete programs of driver education. The 26 other states, he added, use regular funds for the driver education courses.

PROGRAM HAS GROWN

Driver education, he told the group, has come a long way since 1933 when there was only one high school in the land with 20 students enrolled in driver education. Today, he claimed, there are 12,512 high schools with 1,436,718 students enrolled in driver education courses and over 200 colleges and universities offering driver education courses for teachers. More than 500 colleges and universities offer related safety education courses for teachers.

"We look to the schools to help to meet the goals of social responsibilities," he said, "for after all, the purpose of education is to meet the needs of the people, and one of the present day's most serious needs is to solve our traffic problem. It doesn't cost to teach them to drive, it pays," he concluded.

CARD PARTY CANCELLED

The Barlow Fire Co. has cancelled its monthly card party, scheduled for Tuesday evening, because of the primary election at the fire hall Tuesday.

BARONS NEAR 9TH HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP

CLEVELAND (AP)—The most prolific goal maker in American Hockey League playoff history and one of the stingiest goalies have put the Cleveland Barons in position to win the Calder Cup with nine victories in a row.

Center Joe Szura and substitute rookie goalie Jean-Guy Morissette are the keystones on which the Barons have built eight straight victories.

The Barons could win the best-of-seven game finals tonight by beating the Quebec Aces, Eastern Division champs.

A victory would give Cleveland its ninth AHL championship since 1939. The Barons have won two straight from Rochester, three from Hershey and three from Quebec.

SCORES 13 GOALS

Szura, who scored 32 goals while Cleveland was placing third in the Western Division's regular season, has tallied 13 in the playoffs—one more than the old record.

His 19 points put him one short of another playoff record. "I can't put my finger on it," said the 26-year-old center, when asked what brought on his spectacular cup play. "This is my second year in the league, and toward the end, I've begun getting the puck a little more, skating a little harder and getting a lot more shots. Things are coming a little easier for me."

HAS DIZZY SPELLS

Morissette has replaced Les Binkley, who has suffered dizzy spells since being hit on the head with a puck in Pittsburgh March 20. He has allowed an average of less than two goals per playoff game.

Player-coach Fred Glover, the AHL's all-time top scorer, is in his 15th playoff. Glover, who retired in the off-season but changed his mind, led the Barons in scoring during the regular season with 76 points. But he has scored only six points in the Barons last eight games.

The Barons were contenders for the Western Division title almost down to the wire before being edged by Pittsburgh and Rochester.

NAMED STAFF SERGEANT

Samuel J. Bricker, York Springs, third term student at the Mont Alto campus of the Pennsylvania State University, has been appointed to cadet staff sergeant in the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit of that school. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair L. Bricker. He was named to his present position by Capt. H. D. McKalip, officer in charge of the ROTC program. Cadet officers and noncommissioned officers are utilized to organize and direct the cadet company during leadership and drill periods.

COUPLE AWARDED $1,750

A York County jury has awarded Mr. and Mrs. Elva Sparks, East Berlin R. 1, a total of $1,750 in a suit against Jack P. Altland, Spring Grove R. 3. The suit stemmed from an accident September 5, 1960, at an exit from the Cross Keys Drive-in theater, near New Oxford.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE

Rev. Carl E. Miller, Williamsport, a graduate of Gettysburg College and the Lutheran Seminary, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, Lisburn, York County, and will assume his duties early next month.

BULLETINS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Preparations for California's June 2 presidential primary returned to near normal today. But Harold Stassen, who stalled election machinery for two days in an attempt to get on the Republican ballot, vowed to keep trying.

The U. S. Supreme Court Friday turned down Stassen's appeal for a place on the ballot.

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old unemployed laborer, George Whitmore Jr., a Negro, was charged with homicide today in the brutal slayings of career girls Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffer last August 28 in their upper East Side Manhattan apartment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders said today they expect a vote by Wednesday on their amendment to the civil rights bill—an amendment they hope will drive the opening wedge into the Senate stalemate.

tricts will have an opportunity to ballot on referendums scheduled on merger of school districts. Voters in Fairfield, Liberty and Hamiltonban will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on merger of those three school districts.

Similarly voters in East Berlin, York Springs, Huntington, Latimore and Reading will be asked to vote on whether their joint school district should merge.

DELONE LACES F. SCOTT KEY

Jerry McKim, a sophomore outfielder, delivered the key blow of the game in Delone's 10-8 triumph over Francis Scott Key Friday afternoon at McSherrystown. McKim broke an 8-4 tie with a two-run single to climax the Squires' four-run rally in the sixth inning.

The visitors had taken an 8-6 lead in the top of the sixth with a four-run rally of their own. They loaded the bases, scored a pair of runs on an error to tie the game, and went ahead on a two-run double by Terry Nusbaum. Delone promptly loaded the bases in the bottom of the sixth on two walks and an error. Two more errors by Francis Scott Key enabled the Squires to tie the score, 8-8. McKim became the hero when he banged a single into right field to drive in the winning runs.

Joe Keffer went the distance for the Squires, fanning three and walking four. Pete Smith, who started and lost for the visiting team, gave up only five hits, but walked 11 Squires which contributed to his downfall.

Delone, now 2-2 on the season, returns to action next Thursday when it plays host to York Catholic on the McSherrystown diamond.

Score by innings:
Francis Scott Key 211 004 0-8-8-3
Delone Catholic 131 104 x-10-5-3
Pete Smith, Randy Boone (6), and Ken Robertson; Joe Keffer and Bob Wagner. W-Keffer; L-Smith.

TEN YEARS AGO

Gettysburg National To Open
Addition On Thursday: The oldest and largest banking institution in Adams County, the Gettysburg National Bank, celebrates its 140th anniversary today with the opening of a new $80,000 two-story addition to handle new banking facilities and the bank's rapidly expanding volume of business.

A feature of the new 40x80 foot addition to the north end of the 40-year-old building is a window providing the first drive-in banking service in Adams County.

The window, encased in bullet-proof glass and with a sliding drawer in its steel framework which can be extended to receive deposits and then drawn back without exposing any opening, is to be in operation during regular banking hours.

The addition is completely air conditioned and a new ventilating system has been installed for the main building, along with a few new divisions such as a new personal loans division, bookkeeping and trust departments, attractive new conference rooms and a large new vault to supplement the crowded old vault in the main building.

The modern banking house that will be opened for public inspection Thursday is the product of nearly a century and a half of progress from that day in 1814 when the charter of "The Bank of Gettysburg" was issued under the signature of Simon Snyder, then governor of Pennsylvania.

Packard Gives Double Honors To D. Forney: Dave Forney, Gettysburg Packard dealer, and operator of the 11th oldest Packard agency in the United States, has received a plaque in recognition of the 35 years of service as a Packard agency here. The business was established by his father and has been carried on in recent years by the present owner.

The oldest Packard agency in the nation has a record of 42 years.

Mr. Forney also received a master salesman's award for the third consecutive year.

Doctor's Wife First To Use New Window: A steady stream of visitors was being shown through the new section of the Gettysburg National Bank today as the institution observed the 140th anniversary of its charter date. The new $80,000 addition was opened to the public this morning at 9 o'clock and will remain open until 9 p.m.

Teller L. Glenn Shriner was assigned to duty at the new drive-in banking service window at the rear of the new section, accessible from Race Horse Alley.

The first depositor to use the new window this morning was Mrs. David C. Stoner, Oak Ridge, who drove up in her car and used the call bell to summon the teller. A special microphone system enables the teller and customer to converse through the bullet-proof glass window.

This drive-in window offers that type of banking service for the first time in this area.

Leaves Monday For Europe: Dr. Roy W. Gifford, Warner Hospital surgeon, and Mrs. Gifford, of Oak Ridge, will leave Monday for New York City from where they will sail Wednesday on the Queen Elizabeth for Southampton, England. In London Dr. Gifford will attend an American College of Surgeons sectional meeting with the Royal College of Surgeons. He will later go to Harrogate,

Today's Talk

VICTORY BORN
There was a single entry of but one line in Emerson's journal for April 6, 1842. It read: "I am defeated all the time; yet to victory I am born."

Apparently Emerson must have given a great deal of thought to this line before he wrote it down. Perhaps it hung from the front window of his mind all day long, and then impressed him so deeply that he felt he had written enough in that journal for one day!

But just take this idea and test it out in Nature and as applied to human life. The seed, planted in the ground, is victory born — because it was created in the first place to give life to another of its kind. And how determined in every seed, plant, tree, to overcome defeat in itself and become victory born into its full fruition.

Were it not a fact that we are all, in a sense, defeated all the time, there would not be such a natural incentive to demonstrate before all the world that we are actually born to be victorious — as undoubtedly we are.

In the plant, animal, and human world, the greatest contest enacted is that for life itself — to be victorious at least in one's own mind, and to fight to the last ditch to demonstrate the fact.

To believe this to be something born with us at birth, is to be self-nourished in hope, faith, and courage all through life. It is this self-knowledge that inspires us forward, breasting and overcoming defeats along the way, and coming up stronger for each succeeding contest for mastery over ourselves and the elements in life that oppose us.

There are those who seem to carry the split of victory around with them, showing it in their very faces, and proving it in their words and acts. Don Marquis gave voice to this fact when he said in a poem that he was "full of new beginnings."

Indeed to victory were we all born! There is no other way to figure it out.

HERITAGE
He hung a curse upon his son
For some grave folly he had done.
He cried aloud: "He's fully grown!
The end of this he must have known!"

The price of this he must have seen!
And yet his own hands were unclean.
Upon his breath was heavy still
The flavor which had wrought the ill.

He blamed the boy for being weak
Who had himself a craven streak.
He preached high conduct, but he walked
On lower levels than he talked.

And thought it disappointment grim
To find his boy had followed him.
He seemed surprised at last to see
How much like him his boy could be.

Fathers who want fine sons must seek
Themselves the higher mountain peak.
And by example day by day
To what is finer lead the way.

Thine is the burden to be strong,
Wisely to choose twixt right and wrong;
For as the twigs are like the tree,
So like their fathers sons must be.

England, to attend a two-day meeting of the Association of Surgeons of Great Britain and Ireland. Afterwards Dr. and Mrs. Gifford will go to Paris where he will attend a meeting of the International Society of Surgery. Dr. and Mrs. Gifford will tour England, Scotland, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Switzerland. They will return to the states on the Queen Elizabeth, June 15.

CITES NEED

for vehicles, 40 billion for gas, oil, insurance, etc., 12 billion for highways. For safety activities, about 740 million is spent. Thus, we have only $8 out of every $1,000 spent for traffic safety and of that $8, seven goes for traffic police, courts, etc. and less than $1 for driver education and private industry safety programs.

"Accidents cost $7.3 billion per year—not including the cost involved from congestion caused by the accidents. Lack of driver training causes parents to pay $370,000,000 more for insurance each year than they would if their children were properly trained as drivers. Additional funds to give all driver training would more than pay for itself in preventing loss through accidents.

MUST PROMOTE SAFETY
"Every man can be either a victim or beneficiary of change, but he cannot be immune to it. We need to be so dedicated we will spend every waking hour promoting traffic safety, speaking everywhere we can, influencing everyone we can. It takes time to awaken the public to a need—but the more we work, the sooner the public will meet the need. And we are slipping backward on the problem now. If we don't advance safety education, the problem will overwhelm us."

The Gettysburg Senior High School Choir under direction of Paul W. Grove presented a number of selections which were well received by the audience.

Ralph R. Miller, principal of the Allen Junior High School, Camp Hill, presided as toastmaster. Rev. Alvin Alderfer gave the invocation and benediction and installed the new officers headed by William Corbett of Bellefonte High School, the president, and including John Brace, Swisvale, secondary department director; Amos E. Neyhart, Pennsylvania State University, college department director, and Dalibor W. Kralovec, Philadelphia, elementary department director.

"MOST VIOLENT"
Friday night's outbreak, described by city officials as the most violent since the demonstrations began about a month ago, began after a meeting by the protesting groups at the Providence Baptist Church where a group of some 500 had planned an orderly protest demonstration.

Earlier the demonstrators had picketed the courthouse annex.

In another development, 89 demonstrators arrested Wednesday night were fined a total of $31,150 for disorderly conduct and failing to obey police officers and were returned to jail in lieu of $1,000 cash bail each.

Earlier, school officials had asked the Delaware County Court for an injunction against further civil rights demonstrations when the public schools reopen the first of next week. A hearing is set for 10 a.m. Monday.

The schools were closed after sit-in demonstrations because school officials feared for the safety of the pupils.

In another development, 89 civil rights leaders have said they will close the schools again.

Bermudian Springs 2nd In Triangular Track Meet Won By Boiling Springs

Bermudian Springs, led by a record-breaking performance in the shot-put, captured second place in a triangular track meet at Boiling Springs Friday afternoon. Boiling Springs won easily with 90 points, as they won 10 of the 14 events. Bermudian scored 39 points, while Harrisburg Academy was third with 10.

Jim Hoak set a Bermudian school record when he heaved the shot 43'4". However, this was the only first place that Bermudian could capture during the afternoon. Joe Lemmon, who finished second to Hoak in the shot-put, was able to place second in the javelin as well to chalk up six points for the Eagles. Hoak led the Eagles with seven points, as he also gained a third place in the discus. Tom Myers, in the 100-yard dash, and Larry Herran, in the pole vault, were the other second-place finishers for Bermudian.

Eastern League

After three straight rainouts, York finally made its Eastern League debut. And what a debut it was.

The White Roses swept a doubleheader Friday night from Charleston, 6-5 and 3-2 to take over the league lead.

In other games, Williamsport split a doubleheader with Reading, winning the first game 5-4, but dropping the nightcap 4-3 in 10 innings. Springfield defeated Elmira 6-2 in the only other game.

Lefty Don Loun sparked York in the nightcap with a five-hitter and 15 strikeouts. The Roses pulled ahead for good with three unearned runs in the fifth off right hander George Pressley, as he became wild to lose his three-hit effort. With two outs, York parlayed a hit batsman, an error, a walk and three wild pitches into the three runs.

York took the opener when Mike Sinnerud tripled home a run with one out in the ninth inning of a scheduled seven-inning game.

WIN SECOND GAME

Reggie Smith's two-out single in the 10th inning enabled Reading to win the second game from Williamsport. Bill Proust was the winner in relief and Dave Baldwin the loser.

Williamsport wrapped up the seven-inning opener with four runs in the first inning.

In the opener, Williamsport got off to a winning start with four runs in the first inning off Charley Bunker. The winning run came in the fourth off loser Doug Gentry on Jim Lang's single, a walk, a sacrifice and a sacrifice fly.

Matt Gayeshi, staked to a five-run lead in the first inning, scattered six hits effectively to pitch Springfield to victory.

BOLTS DEFEAT BERMIUDIAN IN NIGHT CONTEST

Bob Myers singled home the tying and winning runs on Friday evening in leading the Littlestown Thunderbolts to a 3-2 victory over Bermudian in an Adams County League game under the lights at Littlestown.

The win was the second in as many days for the Thunderbolts, while the loss was the second in two days for Bermudian.

Bermudian scored first when they collected three hits off the serves of Louie Orndorff in the second inning. Leighton Megonell opened the inning with a single. With two out, Ron Tate doubled to put runners on second and third. Jim Harbold tripped both runners home to end the scoring for the Eagles.

The Thunderbolts collected a singleton in the third when John Burgoon tripled and Orndorff singled him home. The tying and winning runs were scored in the sixth. Neal Leister led off the rally with a single and moved to second on a fielder's choice. Terry Pottoff being safe at first. With two out, the Thunderbolts got a break when Orndorff was safe on an error. This set the stage for Myers and he came through with a clutch single to drive in Leister and Pottoff.

Littlestown, now 2-2 in league play and 3-3 overall, will travel to Biglerville Tuesday afternoon to meet the Cannors.

Bermudian, losers in nine straight games, will try to break into the victory column when they meet Fairfield Tuesday afternoon at Fairfield.

Hay Silage Is High In Feed Value, Has Less Odor; Should Be Cut Early, Packed Tightly

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

This year many Pennsylvania farmers are planning to ensile their first-cutting hay crop as low-moisture hay silage.

Forage wilted from 40 to 60 per cent moisture by the time of storage would be considered low moisture. Hay crops wilted to this moisture can be ensiled successfully both in gas-tight and conventional silos. This is provided certain storage methods are followed.

Low moisture hay crop silages have several advantages. If properly made, such objectionable odors common with high-moisture silage are eliminated. They provide flexibility at harvest time and lend themselves well to "mechanized" feeding.

But to assure top quality silage, especially in conventional tower silos, farmers must follow the silage making rules closely.

The final silage can be no better than the crop harvested. So, cut forages early when feed quality is high. Use a hay conditioner and then wilt in the field to a moisture of about 50 to 55 per cent. This may require 12 to 24 hours or more, depending on drying conditions.

PACK TIGHTLY
In order to get a good pack, chop the forage as short as possible and keep cutter knives sharp. Then store in a tight silo, one that is completely free of cracks that might admit air.

Fill the silo as rapidly as possible and distribute forage evenly in the silo. Then pack ensiled forage thoroughly.

Finally, fill the top four feet of your silo with higher moisture forage 70 per cent more. Pack this thoroughly and seal with a plastic cap or other seal. Farmers who have followed these rules when making low-moisture hay crop silage have been pleased with the results. However, if directions are not followed with care, heavy nutrient losses can result.

Placing this low-moisture forage in a trench or bunker silo is not recommended.

TAKE TIME AND LIFE
FARMERS CAN MAKE their farms and homes safer by cleaning up the winter's collection of trash and debris.

Farm families lose about 800 lives and $175 million worth of property annually through fire alone. About 11,300 farm residents are killed and $50,000 are injured in accidents.

The national toll including all home accidents more than death rate. Falls accounted for 12,700 people killed last year. Fires, burns and the like claimed 6,300 lives. Suffocation snuffed out 3,500 poison lilled, 2,300 and firearms killed another 1,000, according to a National Safety Council report.

A general cleanup of homes and farms will remove many hazards. In addition, the following extra precautions will make living and working areas safer: Repair weak floor boards and wobbly shelves. Don't overload shelves and keep heavy things on the ground. Repair defective ladders and steps and keep ramps and walkways free of mud and manure. Clean oil slicks from machinery and floors. Be sure that pulleys and other overhanging equipment are securely fastened. Install lights in dark places.

SAFE OIL STORAGE
Store gasoline outside in safety cans and dispose of oily rags. Inspect and clean furnaces, heaters, stoves and chimneys. Check electrical circuits for overload and damaged wiring. Put guards on light bulbs in dusty areas.

Repair mufflers and exhaust systems on all gasoline engines. Vent fueled heaters properly. Label clearly all medicines, pesticides and household chemicals. Keep them out of reach of children. Also remove plastic

BETRAYAL OF REFUGEES IS COMPULSORY

BERLIN (AP)—The betrayal of refugees has become a legal obligation in Communist East Germany.

A new law, the text of which became available in West Berlin today, says citizens living in areas bordering on West Germany must report persons who are illegally in border areas or who violate border regulations.

Failure to betray potential refugees would be punishable by jail terms of up to two years if other laws do not prescribe more severe punishment, or a fine of up to 2,000 east marks—$500 at the legal exchange rate.

The law also orders a curfew from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. for residents of the border areas.

A border area is 1,500 feet deep from the actual border line.

An area three miles deep is restricted to persons actually residing there and to those who have special passes issued by the police.

Persons spending their holidays on the Baltic coast may not use sailboats with sails larger than 24 square feet and motorboats with motors of more than 2.5 horsepower. Boats may not leave the territorial waters of East Germany and can cruise only from dawn to dusk. Hundreds of refugees have escaped to Sweden and Denmark in small boats.

The law also says that all ships operating within the territorial waters can be stopped and searched and "persons who have committed a crime while crossing through the territorial waters can be arrested."

Helping a refugee to escape is a crime in East Germany. Ships can be pursued to the high seas, the law says.

Couple Observes 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Kessler, Gettysburg R. 4, observed their 25th wedding anniversary on Friday.

The couple was wed April 24, 1939, by the Rev. Philip Bower in Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, Md. Mrs. Kessler is the former Hazel Shindler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Shindler, 217 W. Middle St. Mr. Kessler is the son of John E. Kessler, York R. 5, and the late Ada B. Kessler.

A dinner honoring the couple was held for them by their son, Kenneth, Friday at the Hillside Inn, near Hanover.

bags and films from small children's play places and keep small objects out of their reach. Remove doors from unused refrigerators and similar cabinets.

Install and use safety devices on machinery and keep it in proper repair and adjustment. Be sure that signals and lights are functioning before equipment is taken on the highway. Lock guns out of children's reach and store the ammunition separately. Keep guns unloaded and in good operating condition. Deactivate unused firearm souvenirs and dispose of old ammunition.

Take a little extra time to keep halls and passageways clear of trash, pick up pieces of broken glass, wire and other metals. Remove protruding nails from scrap wood.

For a little investment in time, these safety measures will pay big dividends in injuries prevented and lives saved.

The Fairfield Elementary School will present their annual Spring Musical Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Students in kindergarten through grade five will be participating. The program is under the direction of Thomas Watkins.

Robert Sanders was elected president of Student Council and Carroll Martin was named vice president Thursday in the annual elections held at the High School. Other candidates were Susan Polley and Larry Schmidt for president, and Thomas Bream for vice president.

Morse is the policeman who plays Javert to David Janssen's Jean Valjean in television's modern "Les Miserables"—"The Fugitive."

"I am amazed at how literally the viewers take the show," Morse said during a break in filming.

"I'm also amazed by the naivete of the question. Obviously if I would catch him, the basis for the series would be destroyed."

TO CONTINUE SEARCH FOR 'THE FUGITIVE'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Have you caught him yet?" Barry Morse hears that question everywhere from here to Toronto, which is his home.

Morse seems destined to continue his quest for Janssen for another season and probably longer. That means that Morse also will continue one of television's most extensive commuting schedules.

During the first season of "The Fugitive," Morse made 10 round trips here from Toronto, plus journeys to New York for other shows. He has no plans to move.

"I have a wife and two children and Toronto is our home," he said. "The nature of an actor's work nowadays is travel and it is better for me to do so than to uproot my family."

NEGRO ISSUE BIG ITEM AT CHURCH MEET

By MARGARET WILSON
MONTREAL, N.C. (AP)—Southern Presbyterians are expected to meet head-on to ease the problem of Negro civil rights.

A pastoral letter on race relations, recognizing "the crisis is genuine . . . and locally originated," is on the afternoon agenda.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.—Southern—also will consider a proposed $10 million benevolence budget.

The letter to local congregations was prepared by the Rev. Irvin Elligan of Richmond, Va., a Negro, and by the denomination's Committee on Christian Relations, which he heads. A committee of delegates approved the letter Friday, making only minor changes.

The letter calls the social revolution in the United States a scale model of a universal issue.

"For too long has the white majority hoped that the racial crisis in our nation was artificial," the letter said, "that it would never have occurred but for the sinister plotting of Communists and the pious meddling of self-styled humanitarians who know nothing of the problems."

"Now it is apparent that the crisis is genuine, that the griev-

Says Trade Stamps Help Boost Prices

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A consumer specialist told a group of housewives and future homemakers here Friday that trading stamps helped to boost prices.

Speaking to a gathering of some 1,200 during a home economic program at Pennsylvania State University, Mrs. Esther Peterson, special presidential assistant on consumer affairs, said:

"Stamps must increase prices. Nothing is free. It is my understanding that if all of the stamps issued were redeemed there might be no more stamps."

Her remarks were in reply to a question from the floor.

ances and aspirations of the Negro people are locally originated.

"By maintaining that its issues were of no concern to the church, we departed from the historical and theological position of our church."

The letter noted the general assembly's 1954 pronouncement that "enforced segregation of the races is discrimination which is out of harmony with Christian theology and ethics."

It urged Negroes to "move in such a way as to avoid crushing their white friends who share their cause, and even their white adversaries."

A resolution, introduced late Friday night, called for holding general assembly meetings only in churches willing to accept all persons for membership, regardless of race.

"Alfalfa weevil was cleaned out for the season with one application of Guthion after first cutting."

Mr. Rudy Schaeichl, Field Superintendent
Bel-Air Farms, Millbrook, New York

Guthion . . . the newest way to control alfalfa weevil.

With Guthion, you don't need fall applications. Instead, you watch your first crop carefully. If weevil damage shows when crop is 6 to 8 inches, spray immediately with Guthion. If damage is only spotty, spray the stubble with Guthion immediately after first cutting. Because you spray less often with Guthion, you get a lower cost-per-acre than with any other material. Your crop will be heavier and greener. And, Guthion treated legumes can be fed green or dry to beef or dairy herds.

Your dealer has complete details . . . ask him about this new low cost way to beat the alfalfa weevil.

Red China Faces 2 Major Crises In Next Decade As Younger Rulers Take Over

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China faces at least two major crises of leadership in the next 10 or 15 years as its aging rulers relinquish power to younger men, according to U.S. intelligence studies on once-secret Chinese military documents.

U.S. officials believe the changes that will come about in these crises may profoundly alter Red China's attitude toward the outside world, including the United States.

Two other points which stand out in the intelligence reports are: 1. Red China under the leadership of Mao Tse-tung is following a strategy of state-mate toward the United States while it concentrates on promoting Red revolutionary movements in underdeveloped countries, particularly in Africa.

A. OMIC EFFORTS

2. The Chinese Reds are devoting considerable resources to a program for developing atomic weapons though one of their military leaders estimated in January 1961 that if they got into a big war three to five years from then they would still have to rely on conventional weapons. Meanwhile, the Communist party leaders take the position, according to one of the previously secret documents, that "although the material atomic bomb is important, the spiritual atomic bomb is more important"—apparently a statement of faith in their own Communist world view.

TREMENDOUS MANPOWER

The documents make clear that the Red Chinese leaders believe they cannot be defeated by long-range nuclear weapons—such as U.S. missiles—and if they were invaded they would rely on their vast military manpower. One estimate is that in April 1961 there were supposed to be 200 million armed and organized militiamen.

These conclusions and estimates about Red Chinese policy and strength are set forth in research studies prepared for the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research and based on military papers dealing with both military and political issues which were circulated in Red China in 1961.

AID ASSESSMENTS

In testimony released today, Thomas L. Hughes, State Department intelligence chief, told a House Appropriations subcommittee that "the new materials gave us a look at the dark side of the moon in Communist China."

Hughes also described the documents—obtained in an undisclosed manner—as "uniquely valuable" to the United States in assessing Chinese Communist strategy and tactics and in shaping U.S. foreign policy.

TRANSLATE PAPERS

The Red Chinese secret papers were analyzed by various Chinese language experts. They were also declassified last year and were made available to scholars through the Library of Congress. They are still being translated.

In connection with Hughes' report that special studies had been made on them, The Associated Press obtained from the State Department two studies—one by Ralph L. Powell of American University and one by John Wilson Lewis of Cornell University. Both men are experts on Communist Chinese affairs.

In their separate reports to the State Department both developed the theory of crises in the Chinese Communist leadership in some detail.

DOUBTS MILITARY RULE

Powell expressed the view that though at some moment of future crisis the military in China might have the possibility of seizing power for itself such a development was unlikely and without precedent in the Communist movement. The military will more likely play "the role of kingmakers," he said.

He advanced the thesis that Mao Tse-tung who is 70, "will be replaced by death or retirement within less than a decade."

"But the whole top leadership of the party is an aging group," he said. "In 10 years even the surviving alternate members of the present (Communist party) central committee will average about 65 years. Thus during the next decade or a slightly longer

WILL WRITE UNION RAIL PACT MONDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad management and union negotiators will meet with federal mediators at the Labor Department Monday to start writing a detailed contract which will formally end one of the nation's longest and most complex labor disputes.

Both sides planned a weekend recess after nearly two weeks of intensive White House talks which ended in an agreement late Wednesday, averting a nationwide strike which had been scheduled for a minute after midnight Friday.

In a White House ceremony Thursday, President Johnson congratulated the negotiators and urged both sides to "get back to the railroads and go to work" so both labor and management can prosper.

It will take about a week to draw up the contract, and no difficulties are expected. Then it will take another 10 days or so for the unions to vote their expected ratification of the contract involving wages, jobs and working conditions.

Both sides have expressed satisfaction with the pact which roughly amounts to a trade involving union financial gains for management's right to eliminate certain jobs.

Governor Urges Mental Health Aid

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton is urging all Pennsylvanians to observe mental health week next week by acquainting themselves with mental health facilities in their areas.

The department of public welfare announced Friday that special "open house" programs at state institutions throughout Pennsylvania would highlight the week's observance.

period, the party and the regime will face not one, but two crises of leadership—the death of Mao and the death of his successor."

YOUNG VIEWS SUPPRESSED

Lewis related this situation to "tensions" between the present aging leadership in China and the younger generation of party members whose differing views on policy have been suppressed under the present rulers. Lewis estimated that "a group fully identified with the revolutionary elite and its strategies and techniques could carry on, for at least another 10 to 15 years."

He concluded therefore that "a sharp break in the revolutionary traditions of Mao's inner circle in the (Communist party) political bureau is not probable for five or 10 years."

YOUNG GOP EYE NEW IMAGE IN SECRET MEETS

By STANLEY MEISLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of 15 young, moderate Republicans have been meeting quietly once a week for the past year in hopes of reshaping the image of their party and making their kind of Republicanism a force in the House.

The members look upon themselves as formulators of new ideas and not as rebels against the party leadership of Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

In the long run, however, they could be a threat to Halleck, for they consider his views negative. The very reason for their existence is to create an affirmative image of the party, an image that is different from the one they feel is projected by the present House leadership.

POSE NO DANGER

But, at the moment, they pose no danger to Halleck. Members, in fact, are convinced he does not know their group exists.

Most likely, they prefer it that way. There has been a conscious attempt to keep the group obscure and anonymous—no announcements, no press releases, no interviews.

But it is known that the group includes at least Reps. Robert F. Ellsworth of Kansas, John V. Lindsay of New York, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, Ogden R. Reid of New York, Herman T. Schneebeli of Pennsylvania and Stanley R. Tupper of Maine.

Most of these men are ranked as liberals or progressives in the Republican party, although members of the group prefer to call themselves "affirmative" or "moderate" rather than use any other kind of label.

FACES DANGER

"We believe the Republican party faces more danger from failing to produce imaginative, affirmative ideas than from acting as a me-too party," says one member of the group.

"There is nothing wrong with saying me-too when the other fellow has a good idea," he continues.

One recent idea, first proposed by Reid, was to write a letter to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, suggesting a conference between President Johnson and President Charles De Gaulle of France to clear up differences between the two countries.

Another idea has prompted some of the members to support a proposal of Lindsay for a Republican plan of social security-financed medical care for the aged.

The group gives the young Republicans far greater strength than they ever could have individually. It means that when one member has a proposal, he can line up 10 or more co-sponsors.

Agencies Approve Weavers' Training

HARRISBURG (AP) — A vocational training program for textile weavers in the Wyoming Valley area has won federal approval, the State Labor and Industry Department announced Friday.

The program is aimed at training 40 northeastern Pennsylvania men and women in the textile field. Two consecutive classes of 20 students each will begin in May at the Wyoming Valley area vocational-technical school, Kingston.

BANK ROBBED OF $12,000 BY A HIRED HAND

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Police and FBI officials ordered a nationwide pickup for a mystery man who tried to loot four suburban banks in succession with unsuspecting "bank robbers" he hired through the Texas Employment Commission.

Four young men, thinking they were picking up payrolls for their new boss, took sealed messages to women tellers at the four banks Friday.

The messages falsely warned the women their children were being held hostage. They were ordered to fill up a money bag with bills if they wanted to see their children again.

When the scheme had run its course:

1. The mystery man, who used the name Charles Hudson, had collected one "payroll" of about $12,000 delivered by one of his messengers.

2. A second messenger was intercepted by police just as he was about to drive off from a bank with a money bag stuffed with $10,000.

3. Police had pulled in all four innocent hands. They were later released.

4. The mastermind of the robberies had disappeared with the $12,000 yielded by a frightened teller at the Belfort State Bank.

SIMILAR RUSE

Police said "Hudson" may have been the same man who used an 18-year-old boy to take $5,000 from a bank in Las Vegas, Nev., March 12.

A similar ruse was used successfully in Pensacola, Fla., last July.

The unsuccessful robberies were at the Harrisburg National Bank, the MacGregor Park National Bank and the Spring Branch Bank.

The messengers said they had been hired after filing applications with the Houston office of the Texas Employment Commission.

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Operation Hush is under way at the Everett Air Force Base and the order of the day is: Please do not frighten the mink.

Fifty local mink ranchers appealed to the Air Force for quiet until the spring crop of mink is born. They said loud noises sometimes frighten baby mink to death.

The Air Force agreed to a temporary alteration in takeoff and landing courses.

RESISTANCE TO INDONESIA UP TO VOTERS

By TONY ESCODA
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman put his policies and prestige to the test today as voters weighed his appeals for all-out resistance to Indonesian hostility.

Rahman has made resistance the cornerstone of his campaign in the state and parliamentary election and told his people they must be ready to fight in the face of President Sukarno's repeated threats to "crush Malaysia."

The 61-year-old architect of Malaysia, molded last September of Malay, Singapore and the Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak, predicted a ringing endorsement as throngs jammed the polls in an apparent record turnout.

EXPECT LARGE VOTE
About 80 per cent of the 2.8 million voters were expected to make a choice between Rahman's aim to stand up against Indonesia and the softer attitude of accommodation preached by his opponents.

Rahman's Alliance party, a coalition of Malay, Chinese and Indian parties, accused the two major opposition parties of complicity with Sukarno, who has denounced Malaysia as a British neo-colonialist plot and launched guerrilla operations in Sabah and Sarawak.

Police and troops were placed on special alert for possible terrorism, especially in Southern Malaysia and Singapore where the government charges scores of Indonesian saboteurs and agents are operating.

36 SEATS AT STAKE
The voting was for 104 parliamentary seats and 282 state government seats in the 11 Malay states, kingdom of the Malaysian federation, Sarawak, Sabah and Singapore appoint their federal representatives and hold separate state elections.

Rahman's party was favored to win. Counting seats held in Sabah and Sarawak, it needed only 44 more to win a majority in the 159-seat Federal Parliament.

Rahman's chief opposition parties are the leftist Socialist Front and the right-wing, religiously fanatic Pan-Malayan Islamic party. Both have been advocating a softer line toward Indonesia.

LOOK AT THE RECORD
Harrisburg, Pa., April 21 . . . Kenneth B. Lee, Republican Majority Leader of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, announced today in Harrisburg that Representative Harry D. Ridinger of Adams County has been selected as one of the outstanding Republican members in the House by the Republican leadership.

Lee stated that Representative Ridinger was selected because of his tireless and conscientious work in the General Assembly and his devotion to the principles of Republicanism. Without the support of dedicated legislators such as Mr. Ridinger, the passage of the remarkably progressive legislative program of Governor Scranton would have been impossible. Mr. Ridinger has been a key factor in Pennsylvania's movement forward which propelled Governor Scranton into the National limelight.

Vandals Behead "Little Mermaid"

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—One of the most-photographed statues in the world—the Little Mermaid—was destroyed during the night by a vandal who sawed her head off and took it with him.

The dainty little figure, sitting at a huge stone at the entrance to the Copenhagen harbor, has been admired by thousands of tourists.

Inspired by a fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen, the Little Mermaid had become a landmark in Copenhagen.

CROWDS GREET JOHNSONS ON SOUTHERN TRIP

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says she won't soon forget the little boy in the tiny Kentucky mountain town who breathlessly told her husband "Mr. President, no one ever comes to Inez."

And she still seems astonished at the sign held up in a crowd, "Tell Him and Her Hello," a greeting for the Johnsons' pet Beagle dogs.

Like everyone else, Mrs. Johnson went on Friday's four-state poverty swing "on short notice." She'd planned to return to Washington after attending a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago with him Thursday night. But "Lyndon just thought I really ought to go and he wanted me to."

Not only did Mrs. Johnson go, she shook hands in the crowds, was crushed in the friendly, but jostling throngs and made speeches everywhere Johnson did.

In a departing speech at the Huntington, W.Va., airport, Friday night, the First Lady said: "We have seen a big slice of America, and although we have seen economic problems, we have also seen initiative and determination, and just a lot of ways of attacking things."

INSPIRATIONAL TRIP
She said this type of trip was like a dose of adrenalin to Johnson. It was "the sort of a day that makes Lyndon feel like going back and working harder to live up to the faith that he has found people having in him today."

At Huntington, while she waited in the presidential plane for Johnson to conclude his governor's conference before heading home, Mrs. Johnson said in an interview she thought it did her husband good to get out of Washington to meet the people.

"I don't think Washington is a reliable thermometer to test the political temperature or a barometer of the way the wind is blowing," she said.

ENJOYS TRIP
Mrs. Johnson said she really likes to go on such trips with the President "except that I don't get to take in as much as I like to. I'm not as fast acting, fast thinking and fast walking as he is."

In fact, Mrs. Johnson often got left behind in the hand-shaking as she slowed down to chat a bit or pat a child.

She had to admit "I don't really feel easy talking around my husband," referring to making speeches with him on the same platform.

The 51-year-old First Lady finished her long day admittedly a big weary, and the first thing she did was to dab her aching right hand with hand cream. The President had fared worse; his right hand was scratched and hurting from handshaking.

"People don't exactly shake," she explained, "they hold."

Today's AP News Digest

Pennsylvania
Practically everybody who's anybody in the federal government was in Pittsburgh Friday including the boss, President Johnson, accompanied by the first lady and three cabinet members, spent much of the afternoon there during a stop on their four-state tour of depressed areas.

Gov. Scranton says the Democratic Party is a "party of friction that cannot govern effectively or consistently despite its superior numbers."

State lawmakers may have benefited from a three-day course on noise held in Harrisburg this week. The great debaters would have learned, for example, that sound is useful noise and noise is useless sound.

GOOD TRAINING
A girl can never tell what will help.

Certainly Nancy Ames (then Nancy Hamilton Alfara) couldn't have foreseen that the "political satire shows for charity" she produced for the Junior League would lead to a show that wasn't even born then, the politically satirical "That Was the Week That Was."

Goldberg Draws His Last Cartoon

NEW YORK (AP) — Rube Goldberg drew his last cartoon Friday. He's 81 now and thinks it's time to start a new career.

"I didn't want to wait until I was dead to stop cartooning, or until someone didn't want me any more," said Goldberg, who will devote full time to being a sculptor.

His last cartoon for the New York Journal-American, and 43 other newspapers, will end a 58-year career.

Goldberg's first job as a cartoonist was with the Chronicle in his native San Francisco. About 10 years later, in 1916, he was in New York earning $100,000 a year as the author of "Boob McNutt" and "Mike and Ike—They Look Alike."

His comic strips, featuring weird inventions, were enjoyed by millions.

JOHNSONS ARE "MOBBED" BY SCHOOL PUPILS

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson were mobbed by an all-engulfing crowd of school children as they arrived today at South Bend to begin a four-state "poverty tour."

Neither the President nor the First Lady was injured in the wild melee as well-wishers crushed around them from all sides. However, several of the enthusiastic greeters were carried out of the crowd and given first aid.

After a fleet of three presidential helicopters landed outside a retraining school for unemployed workers, thousands of school children who had been released from classes swarmed over the landing field.

Both the President and Mrs. Johnson were buffeted about and swept along by the crowd despite the determined efforts of Secret Service agents and police.

After about five minutes, Johnson lost his ready grin and looked grim as security men tried to clear a way through the press of humanity.

Secret Service agents waved for police reinforcements and had difficulty steering the President toward the entrance to the field. The pressure of the crowd insistently swept the presidential party away from its destination.

GRIN RETURNS
Once Johnson was free of the crush, however, his grin reappeared and he began a more normal hand-shaking tour, greeting well-wishers penned up behind fences and police barricades.

Mrs. Johnson was the first to emerge from the crowd. She was able to reach the exit fairly easily because most of the shrieking youngsters did not recognize her and moved instead toward her husband.

The First Lady said later of the crowd, "There's nothing depressing about them. There's nothing down-hearted about them."

A fairly generous amount of fat and sugar are usually found in refrigerator yeast doughs because these ingredients help the yeast to work even during the cold storage.

Turkish Cypriot Is Shot In Back

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — An elderly Turkish Cypriot was shot in the back while crossing a street outside Nicosia Friday under the eyes of U.N. troops.

A British officer at a post a few yards from where the Turk fell said he was killed by fire from a Greek Cypriot advance post 75 feet away.

Guns continued to rattle in Ayios Theodoros, a mixed Greek-Turkish village 30 miles south of Nicosia, despite a U.N. cease-fire. A Turk was wounded in shooting there Thursday.

Further trouble was feared between Greek Cypriots and British members of the U.N. force. Scores of Greeks brawled with 50 British soldiers in Nicosia's main square Thursday. Several Greeks and British soldiers were injured.

TENSION HIGH ON BUFFER LINE IN HIMALAYAS

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India and Communist China were dangerously close to a clash over Bhutan earlier this month, it was learned Friday, and both nations reportedly moved troops to jump off positions.

Informed sources said both sides still appear ready to counter—with troops if necessary—any attempt by the other to take advantage of the internal political turmoil in the Himalayan buffer state between northeast India and Tibet.

However, Indian aerial reconnaissance indicates the Chinese have not moved across the Tibet-Bhutan border, informants said, and Indian troops have stood fast.

The mountain passes leading south out of Bhutan are gateways to eastern India, and Indian military men say they are essential to India's defense. For the same reason, Communist China is anxious to control the passes.

Confrontation over Bhutan, possibly the most dangerous since the China-India border war of 1962, began in earnest with the assassination on April 5 of Bhutanese Premier Jigme Dorji.

"The Virginian's" Roberta Shore Is A Pretty Paradox

Pretty Roberta Shore doesn't in the least mind being kidded about being off-beat . . . because in Hollywood that means she doesn't drink or smoke. Even more paradoxical, though, is that Roberta, highly successful costar of "The Virginian" (NBC, 7:30 Wednesdays), just can't seem to get along with horses.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
"I still love to play baseball. I was the best runner in the Eighth Grade."
"Why I ran faster than all the boys."

" . . . But I'm sure not too crazy about riding a horse." And that's how funny life can be . . . because erstwhile tom-boy Roberta Shore has settled into what looks like a long run in "The Virginian" where baseball is not needed. But horses? Well, since this series is set in the 1890's . . .

color western (Wednesday 7:30 p.m.) has just been renewed for its third year. What's she going to do about the critters? Worry or practice? "Probably neither. After they saw me on a horse peering over the edge of a cliff when I was supposed to ride up and stop short in the middle of group, they don't write me in on a horse too often. They know now how I ride . . . or rather how I don't ride."

Furthermore, she allows, horse-wise she'll never catch up to the fellows on the show who are as skillful at riding as they are with acting.

RADIANT FACE
And though acting is something she's been at a good part of her young life, that's what's getting her interest.

Roberta's radiant little face lights up even more, in fact, when she bubbles on about what she's learning from watching her film father Lee J. Cobb who's Judge Garth. "Not only is he a tremendous actor . . . he's a wonderful generous person to work with. In fact it's a great gang and crew. I have such fun!"

SHE'S PARADOXICAL
Roberta is an interesting mixture for a prospering young star.

So far she's managing to live the kind of life you'd take for granted for the girl-next-door-in-a-nice-town but which is a bit off-beat for filmdom.

First, there's the matter of college. Except for "a couple of whole years." (like the bat-wielding Eighth Grade) she's been in and out of Hollywood's professional children's schools since the Sixth Grade when she started appearing on television with Pinky Lee.

EYES COLLEGE

"Now, if our filming schedule breaks right I'd like to get in my first semester of college. No, not in California. I'm sort of planning to go to our own Brigham Young University in Salt Lake City."

A devout Mormon, she flies off to Salt Lake City whenever she can, and takes part in youth activities.

"I've just come back from addressing 600 other young people at Mormon Tabernacle. Nothing prepared, you understand. Just ad lib."

As a Mormon she of course does not drink, does not smoke. That champagne, joy-of-living quality comes strictly from the inside.

MARRIAGE, CAREER?

Romance? "Well," she grinned impishly, "on the show Robert Redfield is the closest to romance for Betsy Garth. And you know, I really did have a crush on him. But it's all right. He's married and his wife's a Mormon too."

DIALING AROUND

Paul Richards, handsome "Breaking Point" star staying at the elegant Plaza Hotel during a New York visit and reminiscing about his student days when "I'd cut through the lobby, wearing tennis shoes, on my way from the subway to my little apartment on 38th St." No, strugs Paul with pleasant honesty, the tennis shoes weren't so much outright poverty "as the uniform of the acting student — maybe even the status symbol."

Selma Diamond during an interview. "Well, you can say I have a penthouse apartment. Actually it's more of a fire escape." Actually, though, it's half-way between... but big enough to make her do a little gardening on the terrace.

Maureen O'Sullivan is delighting audiences up to the minute she leaves her Broadway hit, "Never Too Late," to become the "Today" program's girl. She's so good it's hard to imagine how she can be replaced.

The most beautiful gal in Sardi's last Wednesday. Hilda Simms, who's seen sometimes on "The Nurses."

Refreshing personality that Jack Ging: "Yes, I live in Beverly Hills. But in an apartment, away from those palatial mansions you hear about. Now you know. There is a wrong-side-of-the-tracks... and that's what I call home"

Roberta Shore

And real life romance? Well, for a girl who's just tottering on the edge of 21 — and still having fun as prom queen — she concedes that the final word isn't in yet.

BLONDE SENIOR

When we talked a couple of months ago, she was toting around a pocketful of pictures and a heartful of valentines for a blonde college senior named Kent.

"We met at a Mormon convention but he was on assignment so we couldn't date until we met again in California." At that time she was "well may be engaged to be engaged . . . but we'll see, after all we're pretty young and marriage is pretty serious."

Even so brief a time has proven she's almost as wise as she is pretty because now there's a new fellow on the scene, Roger Perry . . . who's currently got a nice fat TV series role of his own. (Plays Detective Sergeant Dan Kirby, assistant to Ben Gazzara on "Arrest and Trial.")

WERE NEIGHBORS

Seems she and Perry were neighbors several years ago, and sort of got reacquainted when he offered to help her move some stuff into her new Hollywood apartment.

Though she used to say, "When I'm not working, I socialize mostly with nonactors" that's not quite so any more. She and Perry are now a taken-for-granted dating twosome.

Roberta had tried living in nearby Gardenia with her parents . . . driving to work daily for studio shots, she began to find it too strenuous. So now she spends workdays in Hollywood, and weekends with the folks. Even so, she had a small driving mishap getting to and fro when a strong wind pushed her little sports car off the highway. She got a quick call in to the auto salesman who came to her rescue . . . and why not? He's her father.

WED AND RETIRE

As a teen-ager she'd said flatly that, when she married, she'd retire.

But maybe she's having a change of mind as well as heart?

But like the horses, it's just something she's not going to worry about.

Remarkably noncynical and unscarred for someone who got into the business as a child her into the business as a child, she says her work is still fun. And she's a thorough professional. "With people like those on our show all the time, not to mention a guest stars, you can't help wanting to be better all the time."

And what about marriage?

"Well yes . . . but not just yet."

In the meantime there's that juicy career and a nice fresh contract. So, though nobody can predict even so sane a young beauty as Roberta, it does look as though it's back to the ranch for her — at least as of this writing — for another season of "The Virginian."

NOT A WORD

Alan Young, star of "Mister Ed," really does talk to horses . . . just bought one of own. But — unlike his costar on the CBS series — this one can't talk back.

HOPE TO SKELTON

There's no more Hope for Mort Lachman.

After 17 years with Bob Hope, he's moving to CBS as producer of next season's "Red Skelton Hour."

CITY HITS MILK SUPPLIERS ON INSECTICIDES

WASHINGTON (AP) — District and federal officials have cracked down after discovering that quantities of milk shipped into the capital contained up to eight times as much insecticide as permissible.

Health officials said no health hazard was involved. But Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D - Conn., who is conducting Senate hearings on pesticide problems, declared "the warning of the future is clear, and preventive action must be taken."

CHECK TRUCKS

Since Feb. 28, 30 city - bound milk tank trucks have been stopped and checked. Three were found to have levels of pesticides of "regulatory significance," Dr. Frederick C. Heath, deputy director of the Health Department, told a press conference Friday.

The insecticide was identified as heptachlor epoxide, used by dairy farmers to prevent weevil infestations of alfalfa crops fed to cows.

SUSPEND 14 PERMITS

As a result of the discovery,

KEEPS HIS RECORDS

ABC's Dick Clark (emcee of "Missing Links" and "Bandstand") now has 15,000 records in his collection which is described as "mostly pop and not-too-progressive jazz."

The District Health Department suspended the permits of 14 farms, and the Department of Agriculture canceled its registration of heptachlor for use on alfalfa.

Dr. Murray Grant, district health officer, said Food and Drug Administration inspectors, applying new testing techniques, have been helping to uncover trouble spots in the Washington - Baltimore milkshed.

HIGH TOLERANCE LEVEL

In the cases of the 14 farms, all uncovered in the last two weeks, samplings showed the milk contained more than the tolerance allowance, Grant said.

In most instances, he added, the tests showed insecticide levels around one part per million, four times the tolerance allowed. In some cases, he said, it ran eight times the amount.

Grant said it is considered unlikely that such contamination levels would harm consumers, at least on a short-term basis.

Tolerances are set well below the amounts that actually harm test animals.

RESTORE CITY HIT BY QUAKE

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The buildings are coming down on Anchorage's Fourth Avenue, where a four - block stretch of the business district was jumbled by the March 27 earthquake.

A pile of rubble is about all that remains as demolition crews remove the wreckage.

The powerful quake caused a giant earthslide along the avenue, dropping bars, penny arcades and shops 11 feet into a wide fissure.

It was one of the most widely pictured scenes immediately after the quake.

Now contractors working for the Army Engineers are demolishing the buildings and hauling away the pieces.

The future of the sunken area remains uncertain, pending further soil foundation tests.

A downtown urban renewal proposal, approved tentatively by the City Council, would convert the area into a park—possibly as an earthquake tourist attraction.

Geologists have termed the area hazardous for buildings because of possible future slides.

LAND-LUBBING SEAFARER

Dean Jones, who was discovered by a talent scout working in a Southern California eatery, spent four years "in the Navy" as "Ensign O'Toole" (now re-running on ABC) but has yet to get to sea. It was all shot aboard a studio set.

SMART KIDS

Jack Paar's 15-year-old daughter, Randy, is a student of stock market reports. Ditto Candy Moore, of "The Lucy Show." Randy's made money already with two stocks she's followed. And Candy's learned how to do fractions.

IT'S A SWITCH

Prop men never had it so easy as on "Gunsmoke" — for the first time in history, these professional wizards don't have to knock themselves out devising "something that will look like beer."

When you see beer drawn in "Gunsmoke" saloon it probably looks like real beer because it is.

JFK PROGRAM RELAYED

Attorney General Robert Kennedy's discussion of the late President's wit and human side made (originally on the March 13 Jack Paar program) were later relayed by The Voice of America to Africa and Asia via short wave.
